

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CARLOS ALDRETE-LUNA,

Petitioner,

vs.

UNITED STATES,

Respondent.

11cr1194-LAB

CASE NO. 11-CV-2536-LAB

ORDER DENYING 28 U.S.C. §
2255 HABEAS PETITION

Aldrete-Luna is currently serving a 24-month sentence for illegal entry. See United States v. Aldrete-Luna, 11-CR-1194-LAB. Now before the Court is his habeas petition brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255, through which he seeks a sentence reduction. He seeks the reduction on the ground that, due to his alien status, he is ineligible for early release into a halfway house (and other penal benefits) in violation of his Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights to due process and equal protection. This is a familiar claim that aliens make in federal habeas petitions, using (or guided by) what appears to be a form pleading, and the Court has consistently rejected it.

To state an equal protection claim, a plaintiff must allege he was treated differently from other similarly situated persons, see City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 439 (1985), and deportable aliens are not "similarly situated" to United States citizens. It is not an equal protection violation to allow United States citizen-inmates, who must re-

1 enter domestic society, to participate in rehabilitative or other programs while denying that
2 privilege to deportable inmates. See, e.g., Santos v. United States, 940 F.Supp. 275, 281
3 (D. Hawaii 1996) (one's status as deportable alien, which may result in ineligibility for less
4 restrictive terms of confinement, cannot justify downward departure; plaintiff failed to state
5 an equal protection claim "because deportable aliens are not 'similarly situated' to United 6 States citizens"). The Supreme Court "has firmly and repeatedly endorsed the proposition
7 that Congress may make rules as to aliens that would be unacceptable if applied to citizens."
8 Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 521-22 (2003).

9        This Court has previously rejected the claim that an alien's ineligibility for various 10 prisoner programs or benefits violates that person's rights. See Rendon-Inzunza v. United 11 States, 2010 WL 3076271 (S.D. Cal. 2010); Lizarraga-Lopez v. United States, 89 F.Supp.2d
12 1166 (S.D. Cal. 2000). Those holdings stand. The purpose of halfway houses is to facilitate 13 the reintegration of prisoners into the community, but prisoners in Aldrete-Luna's position are 14 released first to the Attorney General and then to a foreign community. Moreover, halfway 15 houses are still custodial institutions wherein prisoners serve out their full sentences, and 16 from which deportable aliens would be a unique flight risk.

17 No due process or equal protection issue arises merely because a defendant's alien 18 status excludes him from certain programs available to citizens, within the prison system or 19 without. Accordingly, Aldrete-Luna's argument that the Court should consider his request
20 for an additional downward departure on that basis is rejected. His habeas petition is 21 accordingly DENIED. The Court also DENIES him a certificate of appealability. See 28
22 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2).
